

An abstract graphic design on a black background. It features a central rectangular area filled with a repeating pattern of small, light gray, stylized shapes that resemble leaves or petals. This central area is bordered by vertical lines of varying thicknesses and heights. To the left, a series of thin vertical lines of equal height form a rectangular frame. To the right, a taller series of thin vertical lines forms another rectangular frame. Above and below the central patterned area, there are horizontal bands of thin vertical lines, creating a sense of depth and architectural structure.
